Part One: A-Reading Comprehension:

Text

When I was at school, I studied different subjects. All my teachers were kind to me but my favourite one was my Mrs Johnson. She taught me English. She was young, active and helpful. The majority of the pupils liked and respected her because she was as tender as our mothers and also because she was explaining the lessons in a very simple and attractive way. She was so pretty and elegant. I have learnt from her to love myself and care for others. My dream was to become a teacher of English and do my best to be loved by my pupils.
